New Yorker Says President
Using "Foreign Tactics"
Against Opponents

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(UP)—Sen. Millard E. Tydings, D., Md., read out of the Democratic party by President Roosevelt for "betraying" the New Deal, was reported ready today to make a counterattack.

At Salisbury, Md., last night, in his first address since Mr. Roosevelt asked Maryland voters to defeat him, Tydings did not mention the White House action. But in an address at Baltimore tonight or in a radio address Sunday he is expected to join two other objects of the President's party purge—Sen. Walter F. George, D., Ga., and Chairman John O'Connor, D., N. Y., of the house rules committee—and accept the President's challenge.

O'Connor "smashed up the gage" last night in a radio address from New York. He accused the President of using "foreign" tactics which, he said, provide an "escalator to dictatorship," and issued the same protest against "one-man government" that had been made earlier this week by George.

Never a "Rubberstamp"
In his address to eastern shore farmers and businessmen, Tydings said that he never would consent to be "a rubberstamp or a ventriloquist."

A few hours before a bombing plane crashed near the Cagliari airport, killing the pilot and injuring three other crew members.

British Protest Envoy's Arrest

Henderson, Ambassador to Berlin, Seeks Complete Report of Nazis' Action Against Passport Official

LONDON, Aug. 19.—(UP)—Great Britain has protested to Germany against the arrest of Capt. Thomas J. Kendrick, British passport officer at Vienna, and has asked a full and speedy explanation, it was announced today. Germany, it was said, promised a full inquiry.

Kendrick was arrested near Salzburg for some reason unknown and was understood to be under detention by Nazi secret police at Vienna. The British protest was understood to have been sent after receipt of a full report which had been requested from Sir Neville Henderson, ambassador at Berlin.

Unusual interest was shown by officials in the incident and it was believed that Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, had assumed personal direction of British activities in it.

Ambassador Henderson sent a preliminary report to the foreign office last night. He gave no details but said he had asked the German government for an explanation. It was suggested here that Kendrick's arrest might be in reprisal for his activities in behalf of refugees. He was responsible for saving many anti-Nazis. He granted them visas which enabled them to leave Austria for Britain. An official spokesman refused to comment on the reprisal theory but admitted that Kendrick had assisted many emigres as a passport officer.

Henderson's instructions included a demand for "a full and speedy explanation" by Germany and also full particulars of the charge.

VIENNA, Aug. 19.—(UP)—Capt. Thomas J. Kendrick, passport officer of the British consulate general at Vienna, was held today on unspecified charges after being arrested near Salzburg. With Many Austrians Capt. Kendrick was on his way by automobile to a vacation in England. It was understood that he was brought here by Nazi secret police of the Gestapo and held in the Metropole hotel where Kurt Schuschnigg, last chancellor of independent Austria; Baron Louis Rothschild, banker, and others are said to be held.

Capt. Kendrick's wife nervously awaited news of him at their apartment in the fashionable Hietzing residential district. There was no indication in mid-morning when he would be released.

NAZIS SPENDING MANY MILLIONS FOR ARMY SHOW

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—(UP)—German army maneuvers will cost the Reich approximately $2,500,000 daily when the number of men in the field reaches 1,000,000, it was unofficially estimated today.

Items of expense include food, fodder, fuel, ammunition, upkeep of equipment, costs of billeting and pay.

The average daily fuel consumption of planes, trucks, motor cars, motorcycles and tanks was unofficially estimated to cost more than $400,000, pay for officers and men was estimated at about the same figure, ammunition $1,200,000, and food $600,000.

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—(UP)—The semi-official news agency DNB announced today that Fuehrer Adolf Hitler arrived at Stettin for a two-day visit to the Grossborn training camp where maneuvers of the 2nd army are being held.

FOUR UNINJURED AS FIRE WRECKS BUS; $6,700 LOST

CHILLICOTHE, Aug. 19.—Three passengers and the driver of a bus of the Dayton and Southeastern lines, escaped injury Thursday when the transport was destroyed by fire at a loss estimated at $6,700.

Mrs. W. H. Whisker, 25, Bluefield, W. Va., was partly carried to safety by the driver, Harold Kelley, 39, of Dayton when she fainted when smoke filled the bus. The other passengers were listed as Tom Schumworth, 75, Chillicothe Route 4, and M. H. Knisley, 50, of Washington C. H.

The driver pulled to the side of the highway when he smelled smoke. When he lifted the hood of the bus, smoke poured out. He slammed down the hood and helped the passengers to safety. Flames quickly enveloped the vehicle. The fire occurred on Route 35, one mile west of the Ross county line.

Barber, 45, Heart Victim In Office of Physician

Elmer Reynolds, of Columbus, Dies in Ashville When Awaiting Treatment; Relatives Figure in Wreck
In Cider Mill Bridge Near Laurelville

Elmer Reynolds, 45, barber, of 847 W. Broad street, Columbus, formerly of Circleville, died after a heart attack Thursday evening in the office of Dr. L. C. Schiff, Ashville.

Mr. Reynolds formerly operated a barber shop on E. Main street in Circleville. He removed to Columbus about 10 years ago.

Mr. Reynolds had been feeling ill Thursday. He worked until about 7 p. m., then accompanied by his wife, drove to the office of Dr. Schiff. He suffered the heart attack when the doctor was enroute to his office.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 10 a. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Dresbach, E. Main street. Mr. Dresbach is a brother-in-law. The Rev. G. J. Troutman, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, will officiate. Mr. Reynolds was a member of the Lutheran church. Burial will be in Forest cemetery in charge of M. S. Rinehart.

Friends may call at the Dresbach home after Saturday noon.

Native of Circleville
Mr. Reynolds was born June 26, 1893, at Gloucester, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reynolds. He married Cecelia Brannon of Circleville on Feb. 16, 1920. Besides his widow he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Eaton, Logan, and five brothers, Melvin, Charles, Alfred and Raymond all of Columbus, and Emmett, Little Rock, Ark.

The Holzapfels were bringing Mr. Eaton to Circleville following the death of Mr. Reynolds.

The Holzapfel car was involved in a collision with a car in which Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ford and Mr. and Mrs. C. Martin, of Logan, were riding. The Fords and Martins were returning to Logan from Chillicothe.

Mrs. Holzapfel was cut on the leg. The others escaped with minor cuts and bruises. Sheriff Charles Radcliff investigated the accident.

INDIANS MUST WIN, OR ELSE, SAYS SLAPNICKA

CLEVELAND, Aug. 19.—(UP)—C. C. Slapnicka, vice-president of the Cleveland Indians, said today that the team would have to "win the pennant—or else."

"If we can't win the pennant with this team then we'll have to break it up," Slapnicka said. Less than one month ago, Slapnicka predicted publicly that the Indians would win the American league race. Today, the Tribe trailed the first-place Yankees by nine games.

'MAD BUTCHER' STILL AT LARGE

Cleveland Police Unable To Unearth Clues
To Murderer

CLEVELAND, Aug. 19.—(UP)—"The Mad Butcher of Kingsbury Run" was as far from capture today as at any time in his four-year reign of torso-murder terror. Police pursued unavailingly the most tantalizingly close clues yet—left with his 12th and 13th victims—whose severed heads even, unlike his custom, he had left near their bodies.

They asked all Cleveland dentists to check their files against the description of two silver crowns and a metal pivot found in the mouth of victim Number 12, a woman, but admitted that it was a needle-in-a-haystack search.

They waited for a report from Washington on a thumbprint from the same victim, but checking of Federal Bureau of Identification records there will require 10 days more, then may not identify her. They felt still that the "torso laboratory"—a dingy room perhaps or a squalid shack—might lie within the close boundaries of the city's Central market, to which they traced the fish box and cookie box into which parts of the last two victims were stuffed. But

JAPS TO INVOKE NEW DECREE FOR STRONGER ARMY

TOKYO, Aug. 19.—(UP)—The cabinet decided today to invoke the sections of mobilization law requiring all physicians, pharmacists and technical school graduates to register for emergency service.

It was planned to ask the imperial consent of Emperor Hirohito to the new regulation at once. As soon as he approves it, ordinances will be promulgated and men who register under them will be subject to conscription for service as they are needed.

This was only one evidence today of the enlarged demands for man power due to the Chinese war.

The commercial newspaper Chugai reported that the war office had decided to notify second class reservists to be ready for instant call. These reservists were instructed to register any new addresses with the war office and to keep themselves available for a call at all times.

The Domei News agency reported that the war office was considering a two year reduction in the present system under which students are exempted from conscriptions until they reach 27.

Thus under the reported change, students would be exempted only up to their 25th year.

ENVOY'S TALK FAILS

Runciman Unable To Make

BY UNITED PRESS
The 1938 model of American foreign policy stood out boldly today against a background of international troubles.

Implications of President Roosevelt's declaration that the United States would oppose any foreign designs on Canada aroused excited approval in Great Britain and France; were ignored in the newspapers of Italy and Germany.

Second thought on the President's speech in America emphasized that it kept within the traditional policy of avoiding foreign entanglements, but was timed to mobilize the moral influence of the Western Hemisphere in support of the Anglo-French campaign to cool European war threats.

Mr. Roosevelt's declaration climaxed—at a time when European democracies face a critical period in their struggle against a war explosion—a long persistent effort by administration officials to convince the United States that it cannot escape world problems by a policy of strict isolation; that if a showdown comes America must stand on the side of the democracies.

The ultimate effect of the administration's foreign policy development in regard to the United States traditional policy of isolation remained to be determined by world events, regardless of the eagerness of some British and French commentators to read into

PENSIONERS OF STATE MAY TAKE CUT IN CHECKS

COLUMBUS, Aug. 19.—(UP)—A horizontal reduction in the monthly checks of Ohio's 110,000 old age pensioners before the end of the year is almost a certainty unless liquor revenues show a decided increase. M. Ray Allison, state finance director, announced today.

The immediate problem, Allison said, was whether to borrow $400,000 needed to pay August pensions at the present rate or to put the horizontal reduction into effect yet this month.

Whether August checks will go out on the same basis as before will be decided at a conference of Allison, H. J. Berrodon, old age pension chief, and the state auditor, Joseph Ferguson, Allison said.

If it is decided to borrow $400,000 and pay August pensions in full the money probably will come from the general revenue fund from which $800,000 already has been borrowed for old age pensions, Allison said.

TWO LIMA HOTEL CLERKS ROBBED BY ARMED MAN

LIMA, Aug. 19.—(UP)—A hooded bandit today robbed two Kirmawan hotel clerks of $60.

The clerks told police the bandit, believed to be a Negro, emptied a cash drawer and then fled on a bicycle.

Although wearing a burlap sack over his head, police said the description of the bandit as furnished by the clerk did not tally with those of a "burlap sack" robber who has terrorized Northwestern Ohio for the last several months. Holdups of the latter robber have been confined almost entirely to filling stations.

quist's dummy." That was the closest he came to the intra-party controversy, but he announced that Sunday he would discuss "some matters that have come to your attention recently."
Meanwhile, the Georgia political situation was complicated further by announcement of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation that it had requested the resignation of Edgar B. Dunlap, R.F.C. counsel at Atlanta.
Dunlap charged that he had been forced to resign because of his support of George. An official R.F.C. announcement said that his resignation had been requested "in line with its policy to have its employees refrain from active participation aside from voting their convictions in political campaigns."
Chairman Morris Sheppard, D., Tex., of the senate campaign expenditures committee, arranged immediately to send an investigator to Atlanta. He said, however, that Dunlap's resignation might have been asked regardless of whom he was supporting because of a general rule in government departments against political activity by employees.

Named Obstructionist
Aside from a short formal statement Tuesday, O'Connor's radio address was his first reply to the President's press conference posture. Mr. Roosevelt had described him as "one of the most effective obstructionists in the lower house."

O'Connor, who led the house fight against the government reorganization bill, at the last session, interpreted the President's action as a "challenge to our system of government."

"The word purge has been imported from foreign sources," he said. "It is brand new in America. It is not the challenge to me personally that matters. The President's attack on me and other members of congress is a challenge to America in its present form of government. It is an escalator to dictatorship."

"The repetitious disavowal of any desire to become a dictator cannot be taken at full faith when actions evidence to the contrary. No dictator in Europe would for one moment admit he is a dictator . . . they all claimed to be supported by a mandate from the people. . . ."

"What the American people are seriously concerned about is this demand of the President for only 'yes men' in our parliament. . . . Let's have it out. If the people of the United States desire to extend an invitation to a dictatorship, we should know about it as soon as possible. If a purge is going to work in America, the sooner we know it the better."

TWO AMERICANS CLAIM LEAD IN CANADIAN OPEN

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 19 (UP)—Gene Kunes of Chicago, 1935 winner, and Ed Oliver, a last-minute entry from Wilmington, Del., shared a two-stroke lead today as play began in the second round of the Canadian Open golf championship.

They had 67's, five under par for the Mississauga Country club course, in yesterday's opening round. "Sluggin'" Sammy Sneed, of West Virginia, and Little Paul Runyan, of White Plains, N. Y., who won the U. S. professional championship last month by conquering Sneed, had 69's.

Oliver came home first late in the afternoon with a 34-33 and, as dusk began to settle, Kunes joined him with a brilliant 35-32. Twelve players shattered par 72 and four equalled it. Among the par-breakers were Bob Gray, Jr., of Toronto, who had a 71, and Sid Brews, of South Africa, with 70. All the rest were Americans.

At 70 were Horton Smith, Chicago; Bill Williamson, Glendale, Cal.; and Vic Ghezzi, Deal, N. J. The 71's were Bill Holt, Jr., of Syracuse, N. Y., an amateur; Walter Hagen, Detroit, and defending champion Harry Cooper, of Chicago, Mass.

USE OF HELIUM FOR PRESERVING FOODS FORECAST

VERMILLION, S. D. (UP)—Helium may one day be used as extensively in the preservation of foods as it now is used to inflate heavier-than-aircraft, according to A. L. Haines, professor of chemistry at the University of South Dakota.

The non-explosive gas now used to lift dirigibles also will keep orange juice fresh for six months or a sponge cake for two months, Haines said.

The professor explained that the gas "tends to decrease formation of bacterial growth" or in other words keeps food from getting moldy.

"Orange juice," he said, "will keep in an atmosphere of helium for six months and retain its original freshness and flavor. In another test one half a sponge cake was sealed in an atmosphere of helium and was allowed to remain for two months while the other half was left in normal atmosphere. At the climax of the experiment the half that was in helium was fresh and the other half was spoiled."

Haines explained that because of some of its unusual qualities, helium has a number of important uses such as filling valves for use in electric bulbs, deep sea diving and the inflation of balloons and dirigibles.

it at least partial abandonment of America's historic stand.

Meanwhile, the United States attitude was generally viewed as bolstering the efforts of Great Britain and France to ease war threats arising from the Czechoslovakian minority crisis. Viscount Runciman, the British mediator at Prague, failed in a talk with Nazi leader Konrad Henlein to break the deadlock between the German minority and the government but he arranged for further conferences with Premier Milan Hodza.

The Berlin press, meanwhile, sharply criticized the Czechs on the grounds that they were "dodging" settlement of the issue. Elsewhere on the trouble front: CHINA—Japanese sought to re-inforce their drive up the Yangtze valley toward Hankow after a series of major aerial battles in which they claimed to have shot down 32 Chinese craft. Chinese reported six Japanese planes downed. The Chinese air force was reported greatly strengthened by new ships from Soviet Russia, which Japanese alleged was demanding that the defense of Hankow be fought through to the bitter end.

30 Arabs Killed

PALESTINE — New disorders in the struggle between Jews and Arabs for domination of the Holy Land resulted in one of the most serious clashes of Arab extremists with British troops. At least 30 Arabs were reported killed.

SPAIN—Loyalists, making effective use of new aircraft, reported they had halted the rebel drive on the Almaden mercury mines nine miles from the insurgent objective. Both sides claimed successes in major aerial battling. Barcelona again suffered repeated bombardment. The British steamer Stanforth was attacked by bombing planes 15 miles west of Barcelona and asked for aid, Lloyds reported.

BRITAIN—The government protested to Germany against arrest of Capt. Thomas J. Kendrick, British passport officer at Vienna, on unspecified charges. Berlin promised a full inquiry.

WITNESS TELLS OF $125 WEEKLY LEVY FOR HINES

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (UP)—Joseph M. (Big Joe) Ison, Negro policy banker known as "Spam", testified today that the Dutch Schultz gang levied $125 a week against his band for "Jimmy Hines's Club."

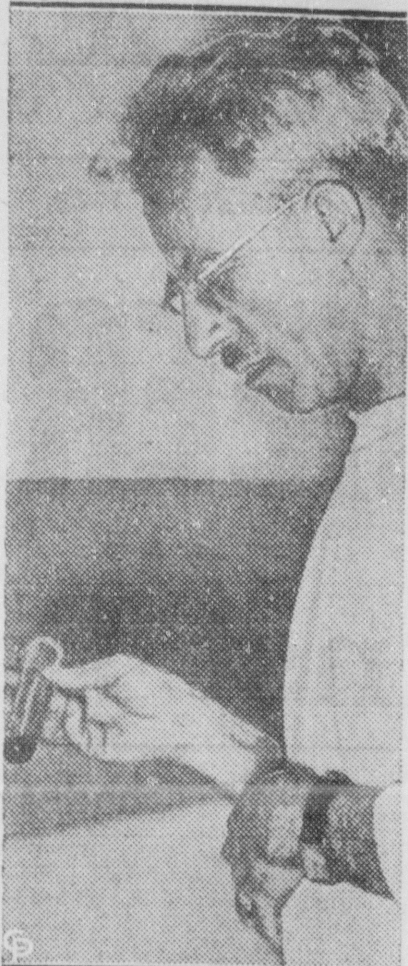

Ison, who had described Schultz' entry into the numbers game and its organization into a racket, nonopoly, was a state witness at the trial of James J. Hines, Tammany district leader accused of supplying court protection for the racket at a salary of $500 to $1,000 a week.

Hines' political organization in the 11th assembly district is the Monongahela Democratic club. Assistant District Attorney Sol Gelb drew testimony from Ison that some months after Schultz "muscled" in on his bank an "unexpained" item of $125 appeared on the weekly expense sheet prepared by Schultz lieutenants.

Ison said that early in 1932, after Schultz had brought all major bankers into "the combination," a mysterious item for $125 appeared on the expense sheet of his bank. He said he asked J. Richard (Dick) Davis, Schultz attorney, and George Weinberg, racket operations manager, "what the $125 was for."

"They told me," he said, "that it was for Jimmy Hines' club."

required to answer the questions under oath on a new form being drawn up by Van Schoik. The brief form will inquire if the client's financial status has changed during the three months since his previous affidavit. Time required for the supplementary affidavits will not interfere with regular duties in the relief offices, Van Schoik said.
Estimated figures for the number of relief clients during July, released by the auditor's office, showed a slight drop from 104,861 in June to 103,800 in July.

NEW EDUCATION PROGRAM AIRED IN PERRY AREA

Representatives of the Perry township school and board of education, county board of education, Ohio State university and state departments of education and officials of the Farm Security Administration met in Townsend hall, Ohio State university, this week for a preliminary discussion of plans for a cooperative educational program in the Atlanta district.

George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, said the discussion concerned largely the type of vocational educational program that can be developed for the residents of the district. Plans are being worked out for an adult education program in cooperation with the regular school system. No definite steps in the development of the program have been taken so far.

Mr. McDowell explained that the program, if developed, will be the result of cooperation of teachers and residents of the district. The educational program is a new thing in the state, he explained, and will depend on the interest shown by residents of the community. It is hoped to conduct adult classes in home economics and agriculture along the lines desired by community residents.

Perry Gets Pupils Until Deercreek Adds Course

Difficulties between the Deercreek township board of education and the Farm Security Administration concerning where high school children in units along Plummer road will attend school, when families move into the homes and if there are any pupils, had been ironed out Friday.

Although there are no high school children in the seven units at the present time, the high school students, if any, will be sent to Perry township school when they move in this year. Next year they will go to Deercreek pending the inclusion of vocational work in the Deercreek school.

So far one unit is occupied and the family has two grade school children. Grade children will be taken to Williamsport.

The district difficulties developed when the county board of education approved a recommendation of the Farm Security Administration that high school pupils be sent to Perry township school so they would have the advantage of vocational subjects.

The home on the federal units are in Deercreek district while a large part of the land is in Perry township rural school district.

Following is a letter received by George McDowell, superintendent of county schools, from George H. Deuss, Indianapolis, acting assistant regional director of the Farm Security Administration, approving the plan worked out and withdrawing the previous recommendation of the administration.

"As a result of our meeting with the Deercreek Township board and on being informed of their plans for including vocational agriculture and vocational home economics in the work at the Williamsport school next year, we are of the opinion that our recommendation concerning families living along Plummer road be withdrawn. At the meeting with the Deercreek board, it was informally agreed to by them that any high school children who may be placed on Farm Security Administration property along Plummer road and in the Deercreek school district, would be allowed to attend the Perry township rural school in Atlanta pending the inclusion of vocational work in the Williamsport school, and the grad. school children would be taken to the school at Williamsport as before."

RECORD THRONG EXPECTED FOR BIG STATE FAIR

Celebration To Be Under Way On Aug. 27, Running Through Sept. 2

JUNIOR EVENT LISTED

Opening Day To Honor All School Bus Drivers Of Ohio

COLUMBUS, Aug. 19—All roads will lead toward Columbus between Aug. 27 and Sept. 2, inclusive, when, for the 88th year Ohio's agricultural-industrial exposition, the state fair, will be presented. Elaborate arrangements are now going forth under the direction of Earl H. Hanefeld, state director of agriculture, to make this year's show the greatest in the history of the Buckeye state, and if entries already on file are a barometer, it will exceed even the fondest expectations of fair officials.

With the exposition still a week in the offing, the fairgrounds already are a beehive of activity as workmen rush to completion the task of putting everything in readiness for the exhibitors.

Saturday, the opening day of the exposition, will again be given over to the youth of the state, having been appropriately designated as "Junior Fair" and "School Bus Drivers' Day", at which time all school busses arriving in Columbus from over the state carrying children from their respective communities will be admitted to the grounds free.

Judging Scheduled
On this day also, the judging of livestock and other exhibits will get under way, permitting much of this to be completed over the week-end, thus reducing to a minimum any possible interference between the junior and senior divisions.

Again this year, one entire building will be devoted to the activities in the 4-H club department, while another structure will be given over to the Vocational Agriculture and Future Farmers of America chapters for their displays. A third building will portray the work being done by students in the schools of the Buckeye state while other junior fair exhibits will be on display at various points about the exposition grounds in close connection with similar exhibits being offered in the open classes.

The various departments which go to make up the junior fair include: Boys' and Girls' 4-H Club work; Juvenile Granges; Future Farmers of America; Students of Vocational Agriculture; Home Economics; General School Shop; Conservation; City School Gardens; Boy Scouts of America; Camp Fire Girls; Girl Scouts; Farmers' Institute Posters; Model Airplanes and Hobbies; and Farm Bureau Essays.

On the opening day, a special program of the attractions has been provided for, both in the Coliseum, and in front of the grandstand.

Others May Follow

Since Ohio adopted this policy of opening its annual exposition on Saturday, it has been acclaimed by several other states and is being considered by a number of county agricultural societies and independent fairs which are contemplating following in the Buckeye state's footsteps.

It is the general contention of many, that some persons who otherwise would be deprived, because of their business, from visiting the exposition are now afforded this opportunity.

In commenting on the enormity of this year's exposition, Director Hanefeld called attention to the exceptionally large number of requests which have been received for concession space.

"From all indications, the state fairgrounds space will be in greater demand this year than at any time in the past. Already, we have virtually exhausted the space set aside for concession stands and tents, and in some instances have been forced to reject offers where a large tract had been requested."

GUARDS READY TO LEAVE IOWA CITY FACTORY

NEWTON, Ia., Aug. 19—(UP)—National guardsmen prepared to withdraw from Newton today in accordance with an order of Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel ending martial law which he proclaimed July 29 during the height of the Maytag Washing Machine company strike. One hundred and twenty-five guardsmen and eight officers, all that remained on duty of 250 originally assigned to the strike zone, will be out of the city by tonight. Formal dissolution of the law was scheduled at 10 a. m. Kraschel, who is recovering at his Harlan, Ia., home from a kidney ailment, issued his order last night to facilitate settlement of differences between the company and employe-members of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, Committee for Industrial Organization affiliate, which called the strike May 9.

The plant was reopened Aug. 4 under military protection. The union members returned to work but protested a 10 percent cut, original cause of the strike, which the company put into effect. Kraschel said company officials had assured him that all injunction proceedings against union members would be dismissed immediately.

COUNTY'S 4-H BAND APPEARS AT STATE FAIR

The band will practice next Monday at 8 p. m. at the Farm Bureau.

Director Hanefeld declared, continuing, "this certainly does not reflect anything other than prosperity."

CHURCH TO SELL .98 OF ACRE TO N. & W. RAILROAD

The Churches of Christ in Christian Union of Ohio filed an application in Common Pleas court Thursday seeking authority to sell a small piece of real estate to the Norfolk & Western railroad.

The land, amounting to .98 of an acre, is located along the railroad right of way near the Mount of Praise campground. It is not used for the campground.

The Rev. O. L. Ferguson, pastor of the Circleville church, said the land is wanted by the railroad so an angle fence can be erected along the right of way instead of the present curved fence, which is hard to maintain. The land price is $100.

JAPAN PLACES 4 MILLION MEN IN JOB DRAFT

Labor Mobilization Ends
Tradition Governing Employment

UNIONS BECOME WEAK

Decreases Almost As Strict
As For Soldiers In Field Of Action

TOKYO, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Japan is mobilizing its workers and using them as a civilian army under a discipline nearly as strict as that imposed on soldiers in the field.

Under a government ordinance being prepared for enforcement this fall, some 4,000,000 workers in key industries will be registered, indexed, assigned jobs at regulated wages and moved about as the government dictates.

The mobilization of labor, being carried out under the national mobilization act, is a tremendous change in the traditional Japanese attitude toward employment. Previously, except for the enforced military training, a man's career has been largely a matter of family consideration. Now the state is being substituted for the family as the deciding factor in the choice of work.

Labor Unions Weakened
Labor unions, existent but never strong, will have even less influence in the future.

The objective of the plan for labor registration is to have a continual and ample supply of workers for the munitions industry.

Article 21 of the national mobilization act provides:
"When found necessary for purposes of national general mobilization, the government may, in accordance with the provisions of an imperial ordinance, cause subjects of the Empire, or those employing or using subjects of the Empire, to report on matters pertaining to their vocation ability, or examine the vocational ability of subjects of the Empire."

Under the general authorization, the government has been preparing detailed requirements. The newspaper Kokumin said that the ordinance would be ready for enforcement in November.

Modified Conscription Plan
As outlined in advance, the ordinance will:

- 1.—Require the registration of all males between the ages of 16 and 60 who have been holding jobs directly or indirectly related to the munitions industry for the past three months.
- 2.—Require the registration of men who have studied in engineering or mining universities or schools.
- 3.—Demand reports from employers who engage five or more workers.
- 4.—Put into effect enforcing and regulatory machinery.
- 5.—Provide for inspection of employed personnel.
- 6.—Provide for examinations to determine vocational aptitudes.
- 7.—Carry provisions for shifting of workers from job to job as necessity requires.
- 8.—Prevent changes of employment without permission.
- 9.—Provide wage scales.

After the plan is in operation, workers will receive identification cards and will be subject to call when need for their services arises.

Theres an old sayin' that it takes two to make an argument and I've always found that one is jest about as much to blame as another.

I use'ta live with an aunt and an uncle till he started arguin' with her and it got so noisy, I had'ta move out.

Sometime later I met my uncle on the street and I asked him if the argument was still going on over at his house and he says, "No—the argument's all over with—I'm back to listenin' again."

Convict's Slaying May Bring Texas Pen Probe

CROCKETT, Tex., Aug. 19.—(UP)—Joseph Worden, member of the Texas prison board, today announced appointment of a committee to "get to the bottom" of the slaying of an escaped convict by an official of the Eastham state prison farm.

Worden requested five civilians, only one of whom besides himself was a member of the prison board, to help him clear the mysterious circumstances surrounding the death of John Hendrix Frazier, 21.

Rob Parker, an employee of the prison system for 16 years, was charged with shooting Frazier as the convict stepped from behind a tree, his hands in the air, and begged that his life be spared.

Frazier was said to have been unarmed.

The murder charge against Parker was filed by Sheriff Archie Maples. He submitted evidence of the alleged murder to the Houston county grand jury, which took the case under advisement but had reached no conclusion when it adjourned last night.

Worden said the committee would concern itself only with the Parker case. He said the committee had not contemplated making a report on conditions at Eastham, where Texas houses its worst criminals.

Parker was free on $10,000 bond. His attorneys, Rep. Nat Patton, D., Texas, and State Senator Gordon Burns, believed that the grand jury would not sustain Maples in charges that Parker unjustifiably killed the young Dallas criminal, one of eight prisoners who fled the prison farm Tuesday.

Patton and Burns declined to discuss the case further and refused to permit Parker to make a statement. Parker waived preliminary hearing.

There had been unconfirmed reports that the prison board might extend its investigation to include the management and operation of the prison farm. Escapes have been frequent almost each month.

It was from the Eastham prison farm that Pete Traxler, notorious southwestern desperado, escaped last Summer and kept officers of half a dozen states busy until he was shot and captured near Hugo, Okla.

Of the eight who fled in this most recent break, only one, Roy King, 26, still was unaccounted for. Authorities said he may have drowned in the Trinity river, as did two of his companions. Three others besides Frazier were shot and killed. Only W. G. Garner was recaptured and returned to prison.

VULCAN, Mich., Aug. 19.—(UP)—Two hundred parishioners of St. Barbara's Catholic church cautiously patrolled the parish rectory today to prevent their pastor, the Rev. Simon Borkowski, from leaving to take an assignment in another parish.

They have been picketing the church grounds in shifts for nearly two days and thus far have blocked a transfer order which Father Borkowski—known throughout upper Michigan as Father Simon—received last week from his superiors. He had been scheduled to report yesterday at St. Mazinaz, Wis.

He made one attempt to flee last night. He appeared at a rear door with his suitcases but turned

AT THE CLIFTONA

MODERN motion picture magic has colored the brighter pages of history in a new salute to heroic scientists.

It is "Yellow Jack," dedicated to those five soldiers who risked their lives to free humanity from the yoke of yellow fever. Opening last night at the Cliftona theatre, it impressed the audience with starkly dramatic scenes, unusual romantic appeal and a new type of heroism.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer spared nothing in making the authentic story of Major Walter Reed a thriller.

The carefully chosen cast includes Lewis Stone, playing the historical character of Major Walter Reed, Andy Devine, Henry Hull, Charles Coburn, Buddy Ebsen, Henry O'Neill, Janet Beecher, William Henry, Alan Curtis and Sam Levene.

Robert Montgomery breathes life into the character of Sergeant O'Hara, leader of the little band of soldiers who offer themselves as human guinea pigs in a last-ditch stand to discover the cause of yellow fever.

AT THE GRAND

One of the lesser results in the general outline of things of a miners' strike which took place in his college days was that it launched Alan Dinehart on the acting career that has made him one of Hollywood's busiest character players. He recalled recently on the set of "Dangerously Yours," Twentieth Century-Fox picture featuring Cesar Romero and Phyllis Brooks, opening Friday at the Grand Theatre.

It was while attending the University of Montana that a professional actor drafted him and a group of other students for the production of plays for the benefit of the miners. When the strike ended, Dinehart had tasted greasepaint and could not bring himself to return to college, so off he went to Chicago and a theatrical career. His early struggles, so typical of many of today's big stars, have been amply rewarded, Dinehart declares.

TWO EXECUTED AS MURDERERS IN TEXAS PRISON

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., Aug. 19.—(UP)—Jesse Polanco, a Mexican of San Antonio who killed a bus driver in a holdup, was singing a song today as he was strapped into the electric chair at the state penitentiary. He died a few minutes after Collan H. Morgan, El Paso, had been executed for the murder of his wife.

Polanco's last request to guards was that he be permitted to die singing his favorite song, "The Sweetest Girl in San Antonio."

Morgan said he had nothing to say. He was sullen when guards strapped him into the chair, shortly after midnight. Officials pronounced him dead at 12:12 a. m. Polanco died 10 minutes later.

A third condemned convict, Carlos Fernandez, sentenced for the killing of a San Antonio policeman, received a 30 day reprieve from Gov. James V. Alfred.

TO HISTORY ASSOCIATION

DIRECTORS: Your program for the annual celebration, Oct. 2, at Logan Elm state park is the most impressive it has ever been my pleasure to read. The celebration should be outstanding in every sense of the word because, I believe, all three addresses scheduled will be of interest. The program committee is to be congratulated for putting forth enough effort to obtain the services of the three men listed for talks. No one in central Ohio knows more of its early history than does E. S. Wenis, of Chillicothe. Judge Bannon, of Portsmouth, is another outstanding authority on history of Ohio. H. D. Harris, a federal operative of the Bureau of Investigation, should tell History Day visitors many things concerning the nation's law about which they now know little. The pageant by the Kingston boys and girls should be interesting, and appropriate music, too, will add to the success of the day. Persons in charge of the big celebration should prepare for a large crowd, much bigger than usual, because it is almost certain that, weather permitting, the program you have planned will draw a record gathering.

TO COACH BLACK

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR: All Circleville is behind you and the football team that will represent the high school on the athletic field this Fall. Your aspiring youths will get into action in earnest next week with the first game with West Jefferson to be played on Sept. 16, the Friday of the first week of school. Already you have had a couple of tough breaks, Bob Bowsher being in the hospital after an operation that will keep him incapacitated for a long while and Bob Liston being enrolled in a military school in Virginia. Bowsher was counted on for the center position and Liston for a tackle berth because of his size and fight. The squad with which you will work will be small in size, but I believe most of the boys out for football will really be putting on the pressure. Interest is high among the boys of the city and among townspeople alike who will give you all the support you wish. Bring on your football season, Circleville is ready.

OFFICERS: Circleville has had an ordinance on its books for a long while that is supposed to regulate bicycle traffic in the city. To my knowledge it has never been enforced. Boys and girls ride through traffic lights, they peddle up and down sidewalks, they hook rides on the backs of automobiles and trucks, they travel up and down the wrong side of the street, they ride with more than one person on a vehicle, and oftentimes at night cyclists can be seen in the main thorough-

World At A Glance

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

If President Roosevelt succeeds in swinging Georgia's Democratic senatorial nomination to Lawrence Camp, Sept. 14, political Washington's consensus is that he can consider himself as having the party effectively by the scruff of the neck—that it will be his kind of a party on into the indefinite future whether he chooses to run again in 1940 or not.

It generally is agreed, however, that beating Senator Walter F. George for renomination will not be quite enough.

If Ex-Gov. Eugene Talmadge should be the Georgia Democrats' senatorial choice it would be a defeat for George, to be sure, but it would not be a triumph for the president either. For "F. D." to win, Camp must win.

fares without lights on their vehicles. The ordinance might as well not be on the books. Before very long school will be starting and the bicycle traffic will be much heavier. The danger to life and property will be increased many fold. Why do you not take some time to try to educate the youngsters of the city so that chances of their being bumped off their vehicles will be reduced. Enforcement of the bicycle traffic law is in your hands. How about doing something about it?

TO CAMP MEETING VISITORS

FRIENDS: Welcome to Circleville for your 20th annual camp session. Circleville is proud to be your host. The Mount of Praise, campground of the Churches of Christ in Christian Union of Ohio, has become an important institution in this city. Every year your program draws large crowds from all parts of Ohio. Despite the enlargement of your housing facilities they are inadequate to take care of the crowds. You folk are invited to make frequent visits to the downtown district where many displays of unusual interest have been prepared. Circleville industrial firms have cooperated with merchants this year in presenting exhibits of products manufactured in this city. Merchants are offering outstanding bargains in a sales event prepared for the camp meeting period. I hope your visit to Circleville is enjoyable and you plan to return for future programs.

TO COUNTIANS

FOLK: A meeting will be held in the Common Pleas courtroom next Tuesday at 8 p. m. to discuss home lighting as a part of the rural electrification program in the county. It behooves you to be present because several matters of much importance will be discussed. The rural electrification project is a reality; it has definitely passed the guesswork stage because workmen are busy getting everything in readiness for erection of poles. After that work is done power will be turned into homes which are equipped for the lights. You should be ready, so attend the meeting to learn just what is expected of you.

TO STOCK RAISERS

RURAL FOLK: Prices on Circleville's livestock auction sale this week clearly indicated that many Pickaway countians followed the advice of experienced stock dealers. Last week the prices on the Circleville market slumped as the result of a large amount of unfinished cattle and hogs being thrown on the market. Officials advised farmers to hold their stock for a better finish and with feed prices low they would be assured of higher prices. The market this week moved 25 to 50 cents higher locally. This was due to better grades of stock being offered.

TO CITY OFFICIALS

GENTLEMEN: Last week-end one man was cut on the arm and six persons were arrested in a free-for-all fight in a southern beer parlor. It was fortunate that no one was more seriously injured. Two of the men were bound to the grand jury, two were fined and two dismissed. This Summer a number of fights have occurred in some of Circleville's beer parlors. Other beer parlors have no difficulties of this kind as trouble makers are ousted at once. I believe that it rests with city officials to work out some means of curbing these beer parlor fights. Drastic action may be necessary. Unless the fights are stopped there is a possibility of someone being killed.

GEORGE HAS EDGE

In a clean-cut fight between George and Talmadge I know of no Georgians (and they have some highly intelligent newspaper correspondents here) who question that George would be victorious. Probably, it is agreed, Camp would win over Talmadge in a clean-cut fight between those two. But in a triangular George-Camp-Talmadge contest there are plenty of guesses that the George-Camp split might enable Talmadge to horn in and win on a run-off. William G. McRae, but he does not seem to signify materially.

TALMADGE
George, except for presidential opposition, would win in a walk. Camp would stand no chance against him except for presidential support.

Talmadge has much of the late Huey P. Long's quality. Say what you will as to Huey, he had appeal "ad lib". Talmadge has it too. I have met him here in Washington. Call him "demagogic", as President Roosevelt implied! All the same he is likeable and pungent. I can see why he gets the grassroot voters.

AS STEWART SEES IT
But this is more critical. George, Camp and Talmadge? If George wins it is o. k. If Camp wins that also is decisive. But if it is indecisive, it is a run-off between George, Camp, Talmadge and McRae. I should bet on George, of course. Talmadge, second. Naturally this will gum up the final result terribly.

Yellow Fever Problem Not Settled, Says Doctor

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

WE WERE all startled a few months ago when Dr. Victor Heiser wrote in a popular magazine that we might be on the verge of a new epidemic of yellow fever. We had thought that this was a public health problem, that was completely settled. Simply do away with a certain kind of mosquito and the danger is ended. But Dr. Heiser points out that yellow fever may be carried by other things than the mosquito.

One of the arresting things about the idea is that yellow fever may be carried to the United States from the jungles of South America by airplane traffic.

To understand the modern yellow fever problem we must consider that there are two types of insects are suspected of forming an animal reservoir of the disease.

Considering Preventive Problem

Considering the preventive problem as a whole, an airplane might conceivably carry into the United States (1) mosquitoes infected with yellow fever; (2) new species of mosquitoes that might become acclimated here and later become infected by an imported human case, serving as a new and efficient vector for the spread of yellow fever in this country; (3) human cases of yellow fever; (4) human cases infected with yellow fever arriving here during the incubation period; (5) infected animals.

On the assumption that yellow fever is most likely to be introduced into the United States by airplanes, the one great protective measure that can be applied is to make all of our southern ports of arrival free of the Aedes aegypti.

In such an Aedes-free port, granted that an infected mosquito were landed and that it bit and infected one or more persons who subsequently developed yellow fever, there would be no mosquito vector to pass on the virus to other individuals and thus start an epidemic. Fumigation of arriving airplanes to prevent introduction of infected mosquitoes is the measure of choice.

CHAPTER 2

THE NEXT day Betsy seemed much better. But Noel still felt that Julian should see her. She hadn't any idea how she would manage it as yet, but consoled herself with the thought that a way would present itself. If she had to, she could wait until midnight when she was sure the household would be asleep, then slip down the back stairs with the child.

When Sunday came, Betsy was so much better, Noel decided it would be safe to leave her for a little while. There were many things Noel had in mind to do. But she didn't intend to stay away from Betsy long. She planned to be back with her by 7 that evening. She also decided that she wouldn't wait any longer to take her to Julian's office. This would be as good a chance as she would have to telephone Julian that she was coming, and to make arrangements to have a taxi waiting not too near the house. She thought by 10 the household might be asleep. But if not, she would wait longer.

Since reading the announcement of Julian's engagement, Noel had tried to keep from thinking of him. But it was hard to do. People who dream wake up, she told herself stoically. She had lost. Ruth Chester had won. If she (Noel) hadn't been prepared to face this fact, she should have been. She certainly had had sufficient forewarning. But always when the thought of Julian came, she was conscious of a hard knot of pain in her heart, and that the foolish tears were close behind her eyes.

At half past 3 Noel took a cab and went out to Jimmy's house. The door was opened by a heavy set, dark-browed woman in a neat house dress. Jimmy's mother, of course. Noel was glad Jimmy wasn't there. She hadn't any idea how his mother would take what she had come here to tell her, and was relieved that Jimmy wouldn't be a witness to the conversation.

In answer to Noel's request to see her for a moment, Mrs. Delevan said she couldn't imagine why, in a rather curt voice.

"A matter of business," Noel said, and plunged right straight to the point. "You exacted a promise from your son that he should never marry until after your death," she began.

The woman stiffened. "And what is that to you?" she demanded coldly.

"Just this. I'm here to find out if you would release Jimmy from his promise if you were guaranteed a sum of money which would make it possible for you to live luxuriously, say in a nice hotel, for the rest of your life."

Jimmy's mother stared at her. "Are you crazy?"

"I'm quite sane," Noel said with a smile. "I'll give you the check now. You'll find you can cash it. The only condition is that you tell Jimmy he can marry when he pleases and any girl he pleases. You can name the amount."

Mrs. Delevan still stared at Noel as if she believed she had recently escaped from an asylum for the insane, but she wasn't the type of woman to skip any bets. So she said promptly, "Ten thousand dollars."

"I'll make it $20,000," Noel said. She took a checkbook and fountain pen from her bag, and wrote out the check.

Then she said, "Remember you are to release Jimmy from his promise at once."

"Of course," the woman replied in a dazed voice.

The next place Noel went was to Maida's, who still lived a few blocks from Mrs. Blarson's on Court street.

The house was a tenement, badly in need of paint and repairs. It was an awful place, and appeared to be leaning to one side, threatening to collapse at any moment from sheer weariness and neglect.

Noel climbed two flights of rickety stairs, hearing babies cry, voices raised in quarrels amid the clatter of pots and pans, and the squeak of a cheap radio.

Maida came to the door. "Why, Noel!" she exclaimed in surprise. She was interrupted by a rather shrill voice. "Mom, mom, that's the lady what give me the tenner."

Noel recognized the little boy who sold papers on the corner from the Garwood house. She smiled. "Why, you're Joey," she said. "I didn't know you were Maida's son."

Maida was looking at Noel timidly, a flush on her thin face. "You hadn't ought to have given him so much money, Noel, though we sure did need it. You see, Nick fired me. I just got so tired, didn't have any pep, I guess."

"Don't you worry about that," Noel comforted her. Then she told her that she and Joey were to get ready for a month's vacation somewhere in the country. Any place she wanted to go. She pulled out her checkbook, while little Joey danced around in high glee. "The country—oh, mom, can you believe that?"

"But, Noel, can you—I mean, ought you—I can't let you do it," she finished unhappily, her eyes hungrily on the check.

"You can't help yourself," Noel told her happily. Then went on to say that when Maida and Joey came back, there'd be a nice school for Joey and a little home somewhere with a garden perhaps and maybe a cow or two and some chickens. And Joey would have his bicycle and there'd be some money coming in every month, and all their hard times would be over.

Maida was crying now, timidly, heart-breakingly. "Honestly, Noel, I—don't know what to say. How can you do all this when you—you're poor too?"

"Maybe I've come into a fortune," Noel told her as she left. She felt as if she had come into a fortune for the first time in her life. Noel decided as she walked up Court and turned down a cross street to get to Madison.

When she was nearing the Medical Arts which she had to pass on her way to get a bus out to Belvedere, she suddenly found herself facing Ruth Chester. This was the first time she had seen her when she was not in her uniform. She was wearing a summer frock of raspberry red organza and a white felt hat trimmed in the same color of velvet ribbon was pulled down low over her dark curls. There was something about this color which seemed to give her hair and eyes a sort of rich purplish light. There wasn't any doubt about it—Ruth Chester was beautiful.

To Noel's surprise, she saw that Ruth was slowing up—that she intended to stop. Then they were standing there together in front of the Medical Arts. However, Ruth just looked at Noel in silence, a light of triumph in her eyes.

Finally Noel said, trying to keep her voice light, "I hear congratulations are in order?"

Ruth Chester smiled. "I suppose you'll go to Europe and join your friends now, won't you? Most people know who you are anyway."

"Oh, I don't know," Noel answered nonchalantly and would have passed on, but the nurse stopped her. "It told you Julian Paige would never marry you," she said with a sort of angry emphasis. "He was interested in you slightly, but you never had a chance in the world. That's the one thing Julian would never do—marry a rich girl. You've no idea how many society girls have been after him."

"I have an idea," Noel said coldly, and added, "also a few working girls as well." With that, she walked on.

Noel supposed Ruth Chester was going to Julian's office. They probably expected to have dinner together. Well, let them. Julian had made his choice, hadn't he? But anyway, Noel stopped and telephoned Julian, telling him that she was bringing the child to him tonight. He promised her that he would wait until she came. His voice sounded queerly restrained, Noel thought. And she wondered if it was only her imagination.

She went back to the Garwood house then. Betsy seemed as well as she had been. But Noel thought this might be her very best chance to take her to Julian, so she went on with her plans.

The minutes seemed to drag by, but at last it was 10, and the house was still. Noel knew the taxi would be waiting. So she awakened the sleeping child, put a light wrap around her and they started down the back stairs.

But just before they reached the street, Noel was seized and blindfolded. She heard a little cry from Betsy—then nothing more.

SIX NINES HAVE CHANCE TO GAIN A. A. GONFALON

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 19—(UP)—Six teams still had a chance for the American Association pennant today, with only three weeks of the regular season remaining in which to settle the closest race in any professional baseball league.

St. Paul in first place was only 52 percentage points ahead of Toledo, the sixth place occupant. Bunched between these clubs, so closely that every day's play brings a change in the standings, are Indianapolis, Kansas City, Minneapolis and Milwaukee.

The regular season ends Sunday, Sept. 11. All of the teams are clamoring for a place in the first division to become eligible for a place in the Shaughnessy playoffs in which the four highest teams play an elimination series to determine which will represent the league in the Little World Series with the International League winner.

Contrasting with the American association race is the wide spread between first and sixth place teams in other circuits in the National league there is a differential of .142 points; in the American, .239; the International, .211; the Texas league, .162; the Southern Association, .153; and the Pacific Coast league, .124.

FENTON OUTFIT STILL IN RACE FOR LOOP TITLE

Fenton Cleaners, with Doc Ferguson pitching, remained in the first place race in the softball league Thursday evening with a 6-2 victory over the Bronzeville Jollies.

Ferguson tossed a good game in the absence of Bill Hegle, regular Fenton moundman. The contest was hardfought from start to finish, but the Fentons had too many guns for the Jollies.

There is no game scheduled tonight because of a postponement to permit the Circleville Oils to play in Columbus. The game between the Oils and Blue Ribbon Dairy will be contested Monday evening, opening next week's festivities.

Other games next week include: Tuesday: Fenton Cleaners vs. Eshelman Feeds.
Wednesday: Circleville Oils vs. Bronzeville Jollies.
Thursday: Purina Feeds vs. Glitt's food market.
Friday: Cain's food market vs. Eshelman Feeds.

HENRY TO FIGHT AFTER HIS LIP IS NORMAL AGAIN

NEW YORK, Aug. 19—(UP)—Henry (Three Crown) Armstrong, of Los Angeles, will defend his world welterweight championship against Ceferino Garcia of the Philippines at Madison Square garden as soon as his injured lower lip heals, Eddie Mead, his manager, said today.

Mead, after conferring with Promoter Mike Jacobs, said the defense might not be staged until late October or November because of the severe cuts Armstrong suffered Wednesday night when he wrestled the lightweight title from Lou Ambers. He said it probably would be two or three months before Armstrong would be in condition to fight.

After the Welter defense, Armstrong will defend the featherweight title on Dec. 6, if Promoter Jacobs will permit him to campaign outside New York City. Jacobs has Henry under contract for three years.

Mead had promised Ed Bangs, sports editor of the Cleveland Daily News, that Henry would fight for the News' Christmas fund show against an opponent selected from a group including Mike Belloise, Ginger Foran, Joey Archibald and Jackie Wilson.

Despite its box office appeal, Mead and Jacobs agreed that a return lightweight tilt between Armstrong and Ambers would have to wait until after Christmas. Mead said Armstrong first would have to defend his other two crowns in order not to violate the six-month rule.

NATIONAL LOOP WATCHES REDS CLIMB IN RACE

Root, French And Russell Clubbed As Derringer Hurls Fine Ball

CHICAGO, Aug. 19—(UP)—The ball club to watch from now on in the National league pennant race is the Cincinnati Reds.

With the other first division clubs, the Pirates, Giants and Cubs, all traveling in reverse the Reds are crowding their way back into the thick of what promises to be a typical National league battle.

Knocking the Cubs off for the second straight yesterday, Cincinnati moved within six and one-half games of the league-leading Pirates. Paul Derringer hand-cuffed the Cubs with seven hits to win, 9-1, and further distinguished himself by hitting one of the long-horned homers seen at Wrigley field this season. It was his 16th triumph. The Reds combed Root, French and Russell for 18 hits with Frank McCormick leading the attack with four singles. McCormick has now made 156 hits in 108 games and has a chance to become the first Cincinnati player to make 200 hits in one season since Jake Daubert accomplished the feat in 1922.

McKechnie Hopeful

The revived spirit of the Reds has even ultra-conservative Bill McKechnie admitting that Cincinnati has a pennant chance.

"We haven't quit at all in this pennant race," said McKechnie. "We had our slump when our boys tightened up but we've passed through that and have now settled down to play our game. We aim to catch somebody in this race and that somebody is Pittsburgh."

The two National league leaders lost yesterday. The St. Louis Cardinals dumped the Pirates, 5-1, when Bob Weiland pitched a four-hit game. Don Gutteridge's single with the bases loaded in the fourth drove in what proved to be the two winning runs. Johnny Mize hit a homer with two on in the next frame. The only run off Weiland was Lee Handley's homer in the first.

Brooklyn trimmed the Giants, 5-3, although New York made 11 hits to the Dodgers' six. Vito Tamulis was invincible in the pinches. Tuck Stainback's triple with the bases loaded featured a four-run Dodger rally in the fifth which enabled the Dodgers to defeat Carl Hubbell.

Although they split a twin bill the New York Yankees kept up their pennant drive as Cleveland lost and the world champions extended their lead to nine full games. Joe DiMaggio's triple and Lou Gehrig's double gave the Yanks a 6-5 victory over Washington in the 11-inning opener. Wes Ferrell, pitching his first game in a Yankee uniform, outlasted Dutch Leonard to beat his ex-mates. Harry Kelley pitched a six-hit game to beat the Yanks, 6-3, in the nightcap. George Case, Senators' rookie outfielder, made three hits in each game.

The St. Louis Browns scored a 9-1 triumph over Cleveland behind Buck Newsom's five-hit pitching. Newsom fanned eight men in scoring his 14th victory. Bob Feller was driven to cover by the Browns with a three-run attack in the fifth.

In the other two American league games Jim Bagby pitched the Boston Red Sox to a 2-0 win over the Athletics, and Detroit, capitalizing on Johnny Whitehead's wildness, beat the Chicago White Sox, 5-1.

PATRICK YOUTHS ON N. HOLLAND CARD NEXT WEEK

The two Patrick boys, who won fights at New Holland last week, are on the next card to be contested at Mike Helfrich's ball park. Homer, 135 pounds, will meet Art Shipley, Cincinnati, and Dempsey, 115 pounds, will take on Kid Shevill, Cincinnati.

Other bouts will include Tom Brown, Cincinnati, against Frankie Lockwood, Terre Haute; Gale Roberts, London, vs. James Shipley, Cincinnati; Joe Flowers, Washington C. H., vs. Billy the Skid, also of Washington C. H.

The bouts will be offered on Thursday, Aug. 25, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

Hubbell May Be Through As Arm Goes "Haywire"

NEW YORK, Aug. 19—(UP)—"King" Carl Hubbell, one of the greatest pitchers in baseball history, was on the sidelines today with an arm ailment which may put him out for the rest of the season and wreck the New York Giants' National league pennant hopes.

Hubbell and his teammates, struggling to win their third straight league championship, probably will get definite news next Tuesday when a Memphis specialist examines Carl's arm in Chicago.

Winner of more than 200 ball games and called Manager Bill Terry's "meal ticket," the 35-year-old left-hander was driven from the box in the fifth inning of yesterday's game by the Brooklyn Dodgers who went on to beat the Giants 5-3.

Never a complaining pitcher and remarkably free from the ordinary run of arm complaints, Hubbell admitted to Terry yesterday that his elbow had been troubling him for some time. But, the National league's rival to "ole man river," added, "it always worked itself loose after a while and I didn't consider it serious."

Cutting Knives Felt
Recently, Hubbell said the pains became more severe and in yesterday's game "the elbow felt as though knives were cutting through it every time I tried to put anything on the ball."

Terry said he had no idea Hubbell's arm was such a serious problem until after yesterday's game. "I had known for some time that he occasionally was bothered with a slight pain in his elbow," Terry said, "but he always minimized it and I had no idea until now how bad it really was. But yesterday I felt something was wrong. His control was off and I knew then something was out of order."

Hubbell, who at least temporarily joins such other famed 1938 arm casualties as Paul and Dizzy Dean, Schoolboy Rowe, Lefty Grove and Bob Feller, will accompany the team to Chicago Monday. Terry said he was notifying Dr. J. Spenter Speed, of Memphis, to come to Chicago and look at the arm.

Operation Possible

"If the trouble is a bone growth or something like that which an operation can correct," said Terry, "I'll let Hubbell be operated on at once. At his age it would be silly to delay matters. If it is something a brief rest can't cure, he won't be any use to us anyway and if it is something an operation can fix up, the sooner it is done the better his chances for next year."

With Hubbell out the Giants' pennant chances are considerably lessened. He was a potent factor in the Giants' 1933, 1936 and 1937 drives to the top. The Giants are five games behind the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates and only a game and a half ahead of the third-place Cincinnati Reds.

Hubbell has won 13 games and lost ten this year. He joined the Giants in 1928 and, not counting world series games, has won 205 and lost 112.

TOLEDOANS BUY BUSINESS FROM W. F. VALENTINE

Controlling Interest In Hoof Ointment, Packing Firm Obtained

GROWTH IS RECALLED

Circleville Man Remains With New Owners In Advisory Capacity

John W. Bebout, attorney of Toledo, acting for a group of Toledo clients, has just negotiated the purchase of the controlling interest in the manufacturing business, which, for the last 40 years, has been conducted at 156 E. Franklin street, by William F. Valentine.

Carl C. Leist handled the legal details of the sale for Mr. Valentine.

The origin and growth of this business to a distribution in all parts of the United States, Canada, and even abroad is highly interesting and unique.

Mr. Valentine, an expert blacksmith, was engaged in horse shoeing continuously from 1871 until 1905. His father and mother were both blacksmiths and worked together at the forge. His grandfather was also a blacksmith. He had the honor of shoeing some of the greatest race horses in the world, including the great Ceresus. Difficult problems of shoeing and hoof malformations were referred to him for correction and he became nationally recognized as an authority on the treatment of horses' feet.

Ointment, Packing Developed
For his own use he developed a hoof ointment and hoof packing which he used for flexing hard, dry hoofs, with great success. He passed samples of these products to other horse shoers for their experimental work. They were so enthusiastic about them that he began their manufacture in a very small way.

In the early days, when he first started the promotion of his products, he borrowed small amounts of money from friends to buy his materials, which he made up a few gallons at a time and sold about the country, particularly at the race tracks. When the products were sold, he returned the loan, borrowed a little more, and so his business grew. Later he retired from the horse shoeing branch of his business and for the last 33 years has devoted all his time to the manufacturing and marketing of Valentine products.

From a small beginning, when old cans such as would be found about any blacksmith's shop, were used to package one or two pound lots, the business expanded until today jobbers and turf goods dealers throughout the country sell a total volume amounting to many tons annually, through an increasing demand from the best horse shoers, trainers and veterinarians.

Other Lines Added

Later he added a line of waterproof boot and shoe grease, harness oil, a bleach used in laundry work, and sealing wax. Mr. Valentine claims that he makes the best red sealing wax on the market and is one of the largest sources of supply in the country. He makes it up in the winter months and ships tons of it during the summer for the canning season.

His business has been continuously conducted at the same location on Franklin street. The terms of the sale of this business to a group of Toledo people who are interested in horses, will be especially appreciated by numerous well-known horsemen, who find Valentine products indispensable. Many of them have discussed with him the future of his business, expressing anxiety that Valentine products might pass out of existence at his demise. Having arrived at the age of 82 years, Mr. Valentine felt that younger people should take over the burden of manufacturing and marketing, and develop the business to a much larger scale than heretofore.

According to the terms of the sale negotiated, Mr. Valentine will remain as active as his health will permit and will act in an advisory capacity to the end that the high quality of all of his products will be maintained. He has signed a contract to continue in this capacity during his lifetime.

Lane On Final Cruise On S. American Coast

By S. D. FRIDLEY
Ashville, Phone 79

Our Bill Lane, whom most everyone in Ashville knows, is away down cruising along the

and to assist the new organization in every way.

The business will be operated under the name of "W. F. Valentine & Co." It will be continued in the old plant in Circleville for some time under the same management. Howard Shaw and Oscar Turner, who have been faithful employees of William Valentine for a number of years, are continuing with the new management. Plans are under way for an aggressive sales and advertising program, and an exclusive sales agency has already been opened in Toledo.

Mr. Valentine was born in Circleville, April 17, 1856, and has been a resident here all of his life.

coasts of South America on a sort of vacation with pay. He has had a seaman's job for these past several years during his Summer school vacation period, and has been in most every important seaport on the globe. Last June he completed his law course at Harvard university and has a good position awaiting him when he comes in off what will likely be his last ocean cruise as a part of the ship's crew. So it was a lucky day for Bill when we had to let out of a type setting job at the print shop because he was a confirmed left hander. But he was our "private secretary" (all around chore boy) for a long while when he was in school here and we could depend on him "coming through" with whatever task he was assigned. No, we are not forgetting Sam Cloud or Clarence Kern, the first named a head staff man in a crew of nurses in one of the New York City hospitals and the last named, a hotel manager having served in some of the best Chicago hosteleries. These boys all knew their "type lice" and we are proud of them in the success they have achieved.

Just met Joe Higley, son of Prof. and Mrs. Higley and who has been in Philadelphia now for just a year. He is in an electric tool manufacturing shop as an apprentice and student. But he is now sent everywhere along the East coast line as an inspector and trouble adjuster. He went to this Philadelphia plant from the O. S. U. electrical school. He returns to his work at the end of another week.

nizing her home on East street at Ashville Community Park provided quite a success. The weather was ideal, the chickens, corn and potatoes roasted to a turn, and the 65 or 70 in attendance all had the best of appetites. Other little matters such as ice-cream, coffee, ice cream and games of various kinds were also fully enjoyed not to mention the plain old fashioned visiting among friends not seen so often these days.
